

This our working report for Stuart McMaw while he was with us at Creativ3.

Attendance and punctuality and commitment to work programme 4/4

Throughout our history of interns, and work experience, Stuart is without doubt the most constant student who has been with us as a business, his commitment is un-questioned, Stuart has also worked and responded out of hours, on designs, and web site creation, we as a company have found this very integrous, and honouring not only of our work, but that of the clients also.

Initiative, organisation and planning 4/4

Stuart has also shown the openness and commitment to learn new software, and design functions, he has shown initiative not only to learn, but to be creative and flow in his own right, he is organised and strategic when looking at new projects and has also worked with client briefs first hand.

Creativity and technical development appropriate to the work programme 4/4

We work in a creative industry, which is always evolving with new ideas and functions, again Stuart has not been found lacking in any of these departments, we have tasked Stuart to take on projects, from client briefing, project planning, technical development and work flow, we would not normally do this in these type of situations, but on some occasions through our time together we have tasked Stuart with a concept to a completion process. I always encourage our team to be students as we are in an ever-changing industry and we need to be on a continued learning curve and Stuart has this quality.

Teamwork and integration 4/4

Our company has always thrived on team work and unity, and Stuart has fitted into our team here at Creativ3 very smoothly, again we cannot stress enough how easy he has fitted into our team, we work on a varied range of services, and at times this is very stressful with the different projects we have on at any given time. Stuart in our opinion would fit into any working team or business, and he would always strive to for the end goal and the betterment of the team.

Communication skills, written and oral 4/4

In our range of services and production, one small piece of lost communication could lead to chaos and major time loss, we try to be detailed verbally and written, our services range from client meetings, to design concepts, to video storyboards, web builds, e-commerce builds, printable materials, social media posting, and we must be detailed on all our communications throughout all projects. We have found in all our projects Stuart has been a very communicative person and would always quantify anything that needed clarified.

In closing we had a great time with Stuart, like all businesses, we had our challenges to face, in all of these, Stuart stood tall and faced everything that was put to him, and we are in no doubt that Stuart has a great future.

Regards Henry Mccrory